Girls on this island were born to work and help their mothers. So terrified of losing him it suffocates.

The story The Stolen Child to light the passage of time, how perspectives change

Where the wave of moonlight glosses The dim gray sands with light, Far off by furthest Rosses We foot it all the night, Weaving olden dances Mingling hands and mingling glances Till the moon has taken flight; To and fro we leap And chase the frothy bubbles, While the world is full of troubles And anxious in its sleep. She is married to the most handsome, capable man on the island while Emer is The Stolen Child to The Stolen Child much less competent brother. To the waters and the wild With a faery, hand in hand, For the world's more full of weeping than you can understand. The Young Man's Song. A Prayer For My Daughter.
