It sounded like a fun read, so I thought I would give it a chance, then go back and read the rest if I enjoyed it. Maybe I just got lucky.

I had checked one more out, A Close Knit Killer, but I'll probably read the first.

The mystery is basic and sloppy, and the knitting content isn't detailed or interesting enough to make up for it. I enjoy the cosy family type atmosphere that Maggie Sefton creates in her Knitting Mysteries series.

She is in the middle of buying a ranch when she becomes the target of vandalism. E

A student who has been taking the dyeing class ends up dead and it is unclear if it was accidental as part of the vandalism of the shop and cafe or if there is a deeper motive.
