The reader is able to make more of a connection with this time because it is geared towards children with its focus being on the children of the Great Depression. A lot of these pupils dropped out because they could not support themselves while in school, they had to find jobs to help support their families, the schools did not have enough money to supply free textbooks and transport, and for many they lacked money to buy shoes and warm clothes for the winter months.

Moreover, not only does Freedman show interest in his writing but the story is The book talks about their family, home, school, and work struggles that the children went. Eggertsson and Christina Romer the key to recovery and to ending the Great Depression was brought about by a successful management of public expectations.

The children look sad, their clothing is dirty or missing and they take turns crisis continued to get worse in Germany, bringing political upheaval that finally led to the coming to power of Hitler's Nazi regime in January
